TO ALBANY PENITENTIARY. Dora Strawbridge Sentenced to One Year's Imprisonment.

This morning in the Criminal Court, Judge Bradley, Dora Strawbridge, arrested last week on the charge of obtaining money by false pretenses, by means of a letter representing her to have been made a widow by the Johnstown flood, was placed at the bar.

Judge Bradley stated that at a former time she had been convicted on a similar change and the sentence was suspended by Judge Montgomery during her good behavior. It now became his duty to impose sentence under that

"Do you think it right," said the prisoner, "to sentence me on the first charge when I have not been tried on the second?"

The court said it would be right, and asked if she preferred to be tried and risk the sentence on both charges.

"But," she said, "I may be found guilty on the second."

Mr. Mullowney stated, for the government, that the trial could not take place till the October term, and in the meantime she would have

THE HAYTIAN QUESTION.

A Talk with Ex-Minister Langston on the Situation.

AMERICAN TRADE WITH HATTI-LACK OF PRO-TECTION TO AMERICAN VESSELS-NEED OF A HARBOR AND COALING STATION-ADVANTAGES OF A COMMISSION-FRENCH INTERESTS IN MAYTE.

ment of Mr. Douglass as minister to Hayti will prevent the sending of a commission there, as Mr. Blaine contemplated. The situation there is one of the utmost importance, and Mr. Blaine's reasons for desiring a commission in the first instance were excellent. By sending minister we recognize the government of Legitime, but it is a matter of grave doubt which faction will be at the head of affairs when the struggle on the island is ended. It is also a matter of great uncertainty how far Legitime has surrendered to French influence. American interests are certainly seriously threatened. There can be no doubt of the importance ened. There can be no doubt of the importance to us to maintain an influence in the "Black Republic," when the value of the trade in the West Indies is considered. The money we spend in bananas alone amounts to more than the value of our own entire fruit crop. The fruit trade that is conducted in foreign vessels has been growing steadily and rapidly for a number of years, until the fleet is a feature of commercial navigation. We spend more money there than the native banks can take care of, and all the trade is carried in foreign vessels.

There are some strong reasons for a very careful treatment of the diplomatic question. The work it was proposed by Mr. Biame for the commission to do was of considerable import-A STAR reporter was talking this morning with Prof. John M. Langston, who very ably represented this country in Hayti for a number of years, until he resigned when Cleveland beof years, until he resigned when Cleveland became President.

"There is the greatest need," he said, "of the exercise of the best diplomatic skill in Hayti at this time. Mr. Blaine saw this when he proposed to send a very strong commission there. The riches of commerce are in the West Indies trade, and America alone of all the great nations is almost cut out of it. The government is not in a position to protect here. government is not in a position to protect her citizens in their rights there, and they are obliged to yield up the riches of this trade to foreigners. I have seen the fleet of fruiters in seven years grow from four little vessels to thirty magnificent crafts, some of them the finest steamers that sail the Atlantic. None of them are American. They are foreign navigators carrying our commerce. Our interests in this trade, and, moreover, the transcontinental canal questions, are seriously involved in this matter. With the building of a canal between the two oceans and the direction this will give to ocean trade, we must have some vantage ground from which to look out for American interests and protect American citizens in the commercial contest.

NO PROTECTION.

"One of the chief reasons we have not a large fleet of merchantmen engaged in the West Indies trade now is that the government does not protect them in their rights. They have not the safety from fines and interference by for-eigners that the presence of a man-of-war gives. Why, when I first went to Hayti, I found five American vessels tied up in one port and made to pay fines illegally. Almost my first work was to have these fines refunded, and to demand that the proper regard be had for our rights.

NO HARBOR FOR AMERICAN VESSELS. "Now, do you know that this government has not a foot of water in which to float a man-ofwar, nor a piece of land on which to keep a gathered about Mr. C. C. Duncanson, the talk of Monroe doctrine, with the West Indies trade and the inter-oceanic canal question, it is important that we should have a lodging place for our fleet, as the English have, at Port terest that a coaling station for the American

> "There has been talk of Legitime's having made concessions to France that amount practically to a protectorate power being vested in tically to a protectorate power being vested in that nation," continued Prof. Langston. "But mark what power France has there already. The Haytian bank is a French concern; the finances of Hayti are in the hands of the French. The most important product of Hayti is coffee; the coffee trade is entirely in the hands of the French. The products are shipped to French and products are shipped. to France and return cargoes are brought from France. Holding the finances and commerce

"Now, here is where Mr. Blaine was right in wanting to send a commission to Hayti, if that was his plan, as said. Sending a minister is Two boys, Walter Melgrim and Frank Scott, attempted to jump on an outgoing train on the Metropolitan branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at the New York avenue crossing, but missed getting a hold. The first named had an able lawer. We want to know what the an able lawyer. We want to know what the government is and where it is before recognizslight bruises. They stated that they were on their way east for the Lexington race track and were in the habit of beating railroads. They were first treated at the Emergency has been supported by the Emergency for assistance, and how far bound to the French. These inquiries and others effecting American interests and the principles of the Monroe doctrine could well be made by a commission. American interests are largely on the Dominican side. This may put them with Hippolyte, for it is more than probable that San Domingo is assisting Hippolyte.
